

Goods market access (JSI-based)

The JSI goods market access proposals are made in recognition of “the strong synergies that exist between enhanced and more affordable access to products of information technology for business and consumers and their ability to participate in electronic commerce”.

Essentially, the proposals invite the parties of the future WTO e-commerce agreement to join the ITA, as well as the ITA Expansion (“WTO Ministerial Declaration on Trade in Information Technology Products, 13 December 1996, commonly referred to as the Information Technology Agreement”, and “WTO Ministerial Declaration on the Expansion of Trade in Information Technology Products, 16 December 2015”) and make the necessary adjustments in their goods schedules.
